Description :

Full-closed Automatic Leather Degreased Dry Cleaning Machine

Technical Specification :

low solvent consumption

the machine has a intact cooling and recycle system, it can condense and recover solvent under zero degrees centigrade, the notable difference in temperature make thorough recycle possible, the solvent consumption is much lower than any other same kind dry cleaning machine, sharply reducing the cost of solvent and a lot of money has been saved.

high efficiency

Because of cooling recycle and double still, it can minimize the time of drying and distillation, dramatically shorten the washing time.

remarkable efficiency

Using low and constant temperature washing, high efficiency drying technology, double deck oil and water separator and circular sprinkle. After degreased and cleaned, the leather is soft, shiny, sterilized, deodorized and can be protected from worm-eaten. In addition, it can prevent leather from shrinkage, not only can ensure human healthy, but also can reinforce market competitiveness thanks to high quality.

high speed distillation

Equipped with double still structure, the big one is above the small one, the solvent in the both case can flow into each other. It can average open dry-cleaning machine more than two hours to distill, but the machine we produced only need one hour to finish. The machine can distill the solvent which containing a great amount of grease. Because of timely distillation of dirt solvent, so it can thoroughly clean the bottom of distillation case.

high degree of automation

It can realize automatically control by equipped with advanced intelligent touching screen computer controller which produced by professional company. It has the characteristics of easy operation, stable performance, all-side on-line support, long-distance control and intelligent management. The touching screen has friendly man-machine conversation interface, you can easily chose manual or automatic model. The machine is equipped with various kind alarming device, automatically problem shooting, safety and reliability.

running smoothly

Inverter control system, limitless speed changing and the integration of transmission and main axis make the machine run smoothly, there is no vibration even during high dewatering process, ensuring long lifespan of the machine.

no leaking

Adopting high temperature and antiseptic material, all the parts which contact solvent made of stainless steel, solvent pipeline are welded with total stainless steel to make solvent flow fluently without leaking and meet requirement of environment protection.

the ability to high working strength

Frequency transformer, refrigerator units, bearing and other main parts of imported word-famous brand guarantee the machine reliability, endurance and the high working ability.

low energy consumption

Advanced design, reasonable structure and short washing cycle guarantee the low consumption of electricity, water and steam. Because of 7.5KW motor, the energy consumption of the machine is one third as much as the same kind products, so minimize a large number of costs.

human-based design

Loading door is made of stainless steel which is beautiful and endurance, it is very convenient for the outlet and inlet of the material because of the large diameter. You will see the distillation, drying, recovery solvent and adding solvent very clearly. Saving time because of automatic problem shooting and alarming, you no large waste time over finding fault. The machine has a big advantage over other same kind product due to human-based design.
